Introduction

The Elton John AIDS Foundation (EJAF) has been involved with art and photography projects for many years. We believe it is absolutely vital to support queer art, photography, and images depicting the beauty and humanity of living life as our authentic selves. EJAF is deeply grateful to be the charitable beneficiary of Boys! Boys! Boys! Proceeds from this project will help support our lifesaving work to challenge stigma and discrimination against people affected by the epidemic, prevent infections, provide treatment and services, and motivate governments to effectively address the epidemic. By purchasing this book, you will be helping us to begin writing the last chapter in the effort to end AIDS once and for all.

Boys! Boys! Boys! is not supposed to be super-smart or clever. It is a collection of some of my favourite pictures, designed to be a platform for queer and gay photography. It exists simply to show off pictures of boys, as fine art photography ... Just like people have been buying pictures of sexy girls as fine art for decades. I've been collecting pictures of hot boys for longer than I want to tell you. I hope you'll start collecting too and share the love.

About Elton John AIDS Foundation

Since 1992, the Elton John AIDS Foundation has raised more than £290 million ($400 million) to combat stigma, prevent infections, provide treatment and services, and motivate governments to end AIDS. As a leading worldwide organisation supporting those affected by HIV, we work alongside local, national and international partners, government officials, and advocates to promote a global response that leaves no one behind. We are supporting programs in 23 countries to advance our fundamental belief that access to information, testing and treatment can improve the lives of those living with, affected by or at risk of HIV/AIDS. For more information and to get involved, please visit www.ejaf.org.
