

The Magazine for Graphic Design

grafik 178

Profile Jon Sueda
Special Report Olympik

October 2009 £9

Freak Out

ENDS 08 NOVEMBER

If you like your clubs on the 'alternative' side and your men in moustaches, lipstick and fishnets, then why not take a trip to the Dalston Superstore in East London to check out Beautiful Freaks, an exhibition of photographs taken on and around the dancefloors of some of clubland's most salubrious establishments including GutterSlut, Trailer Trash and Horse Meat Disco. Captured by Ralf Obergfell (and staged in conjunction with set designer Tony Hornecker), it's a revealing (and sometimes slightly scary) trip through a world that Daily Mail readers probably have no idea even exists. Not for the faint-hearted, but great fun nonetheless.

www.ralfobergfell.com

Zeitgeist

16 OCTOBER—01 NOVEMBER

Illustrative's international illustration forum hits Berlin this month. Showcasing over 600 pieces from over sixty different artists, the exhibition at the Villa Elisabeth is the place to see the latest work from the most exciting new illustrators from around the globe. Encompassing drawing, printmaking, painting, large-scale collage, book art and animation, there's bound to be something for everyone. You can check out Grafik's exhibition, showing some of our favourite books, and also discover the winner of the Young Illustrators Award 2009. Among the many excellent prizes, the winner gets a chance to design their very own Swatch watch. How cool is that?

www.illustrative.de

