Freak show_

While you only need to flash some tits and teeth to get your picture taken for a weekly gay mag, Ralf Obergfell and Tony Hornecker have a somewhat more discerning eye. They've spent four years photographing all the glittery weirdos that come out to play after dark, for their exhibition Beautiful Freaks. With a Superdrug's worth of make-up, these glamorous androgens will make even the high-maintenance among us feel underdressed. ■

Beautiful Freaks runs from 25 September to 8 November at Dalston Superstore, 117 Kingsland High Street, London. ralfobergfell.com.

25 August

Shouting - Schlager, Schlager, Schlager... It's Scandipop hosting a Therese gig.

Translation: Dancefloor diva from Sweden drops by London town to show why she's such a scream back home. Pop nerds will soil their pants while Soho wanderers can take a break from Cascada by going to Escape and discovering something new to clog up their iPods. ■

David Harrison is a surreal bedroom Magritte, an artist who, with paint at least, specialises in foxes in hats, historically improbable mythical sex parties and mixing up the macabre and the mundane. You can learn more about the mysterious man online (tinyurl.com/glint) and by checking out the Existence exhibition at the Victoria Miro Gallery, London. ■

We'd turn up to the opening of a fridge door, so are relishing this frosty reception at Selfridges. Their new ice cream parlour will launch The Icecreamists, by getting their knickerbocker-glories in a new twist and serving up cryogenic cocktails. There's bands, DJs and catwalk shows planned, but they're playing it cool. We'll let you know when we do. ■ selfridges.com

11 September

Dress as your favourite icon, prepare for a surprise encounter with performers around gallery corners, be indulged with films in the theatre, flit around and flirt to iconic DJs and discover how all the world is truly your stage. An inspirational line up is promised for Iconography Late. Visit npg.org.uk/gayicons for further details (in association with GT Magazine, wool!). ■

13 September

What's Abba without the birds? It's a tribute night, with covers bands a-go-go, courtesy of BBC Radio 2. Thank You For The Music... A Celebration Of The Music Of Abba takes over Hyde Park, with Benny Andersson and Björn Ulvaeus in tow. All their golden hits should be covered, in this happy clappy concert celebrating those cheerful geniuses. ■
